Corimmun GmbH has received a GMP certificate to carry out analytical studies and a drug manufacturing permit

Munich/Martinsried, July 2011

The biotech company Corimmun GmbH has received a GMP certificate to carry out analytical studies, and to label and finish drugs to be used in humans according to „Good manufacturing practice“ (GMP). Corimmun has been granted status as a drug manufacturer.

The company is specialized in inflammatory mechanisms in cardiovascular diseases. Currently phase II studies with the peptidic drug COR-1 and with the platelet inhibitor Revacept are starting. From now on, both drugs will be stored at and be distributed by Corimmun. COR-1 is a drug which inhibits the auto-antibody-mediated myocardial damage in heart failure. COR-1 is the first drug to target this important mechanism and therefore addresses an unmet medical need in a major indication. Revacept is a lesion-specific inhibitor of arterial thrombosis for the treatment of patients with acute coronary syndromes and stroke. Revacept has the unique feature to potently inhibit the initial steps of platelet activation without affecting general hemostasis.
